Ideal solution design

Based on the story map resulting from the agile analysis and your requirements, our experts will design a tailored, intuitive, and easy-to-navigate working environment for you, taking into account the individual needs of each user

Creating a comfortable working environment

We will create a space with no limits where you can share relevant information with those involved. The final, full-featured solution will become your ideal working environment, and you can start using it immediately!

Solution management in the form of tasks with notifications

When solving a business problem requires people with different skills and competencies to work together, our working environment is designed for effective collaboration with its automated and intuitive interface. You can manage complex tasks, divide them into smaller ones, and assign a solver with his role and competencies to each task.

Individual working environment for each role

Each team member can view only what is relevant and important to them, so they are not distracted by irrelevant notifications and tasks. Multiple roles can be assigned to an individual agenda. The working environment is individually tailored and specifically customized for each user based on their agenda.

Support for data-driven decision-making

Solvedio automatically collects relevant data and creates customized data reports. Visualization of key data is presented to the user in the clearest possible way for intuitive understanding. As a result, a data-driven decision-making process is supported.

Assisted process management

Human capital is the greatest asset for any company. Through the implementation of automation elements, the user is relieved of the need to process tasks and activities manually. The automated workflow intuitively and effortlessly guides the user through established processes without the need for him to master them in detail. This allows the user to focus on creative, value-added tasks. Tasks can be created based on predefined questionnaires, and processes can be moved forward based on predefined rules.

Integration to third-party systems

You do not have to give up your favorite tools. Our solution can be easily integrated with the software that is already being used by your organization (SAP, Office 365, SharePoint, etc.). You will have a more connected and productive environment that can also be connected to data sources outside of Solvedio.

Data migration from the current system

By switching to Solvedio, you will not lose any of your existing data. They will be safely migrated from the information system you are currently using to Solvedio.

One-click login

By integrating Azure ID login technology, ADFS, etc., we will speed up your work even more. This way, you will not have to remember your name and password (like when logging in with a Google or Microsoft account) but can log in quickly and easily with one click.

Validation of form input data

By simply validating the form input data, inaccuracies and errors are effectively avoided. The application will notify the user of the correct default format for the form input. The function will be especially appreciated when working with more complex types of data, such as VIN numbers, product batches, invoice labeling, etc.

Customized data visualisation

Is it necessary for your company to dynamically change the format and method of data visualization? This feature allows you to customize your dashboard according to your requirements and preferences and dynamically change it over time according to your needs.

Productivity increase thanks to RPA

Solvedio RPA integration makes any multi-step process in your business faster and error-free. That's why a robotic process automation tool can help you speed up error-prone manual workflows, and employees can work on higher-value tasks.

To increase credibility to the maximum

To provide more accurate and faster information in business, blockchain is the ideal tool to provide instant, shared, and transparent information stored in a fixed ledger. This information can only be accessed by authorized users. The blockchain network tracks orders, payments, accounts, production, etc. With true sharing, you can see all the transaction details from start to finish, leading to greater trust, efficiency, and new opportunities.

Additional functionalities

We can extend the solution's functionality according to your requirements beyond the add-ons we offer. If you have any further requirements, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Order with a money back guarantee.

Pay only when you are satisfied with the received solution. There is no need to provide credit card information in advance.
